

Comprehensive Ophthalmologist, The Ottawa Hospital

The Ottawa Hospital Department of Ophthalmology is seeking one or more comprehensive ophthalmologists to join our dynamic team. This appointment would include surgical time at the Ottawa Hospital as well as a prominent teaching role for residents and other trainees. It would also include an appointment with the University of Ottawa.

The successful candidate(s) must have Canadian citizenship or landed immigrant status, be licensed to practice in Ontario, have CMPA coverage, and have Royal College Certification.

Primary Responsibilities of a successful candidate:

- 1) To maintain an Ottawa office and provide primary medical and surgical eye care for the population of Ottawa and its environs.
- 2) Participation in the on-call rotation for The Ottawa Hospital.
- 3) Training and supervision of medical students, residents, colleagues, nurses, ophthalmic medical technologists and others as determined by the Department Head. Training expectations include teaching in the operating room, clinic, and didactic sessions.
- 4) Commitment to supporting the Department with service on committees, attending Department meetings, and undertaking administrative roles as requested by the Department Head.
- 5) Willingness to contribute to clinical research.

Resources:

- 1) Access to the OR resource at the Ottawa Hospital as per current allocation methodology. Surgical time allocation is contingent upon sustained teaching during allocated OR time and support of other Departmental educational and administrative activities.
- 2) Access to the minor room and lasers (YAG, SLT, Argon).

Preference will be given to candidates interested in providing a full range of comprehensive ophthalmic care in the community and a potential to contribute to the academic and administrative goals of the Department and University. An established record in comprehensive ophthalmology is not required but a strong vision for how the applicant would enhance current Departmental programming is needed.

A specialized expertise or interest in a clinical area such as vision rehabilitation, trainee wellness, educational program development, or quality improvement would be an asset.
