High-Volume Medical Retina Locum Opportunity

Jackman Eye Institute

Jackman Eye Institute is seeking a Medical Retina Specialist for a 3–6-month locum within a well-established, high-volume ophthalmology practice in St. John's, Newfoundland and Labrador. There is a possibility of extension if the successful candidate would like to continue practicing with our clinic.

This is a turn-key clinical opportunity to step directly into an exceptionally busy retina service with immediate patient volume, a strong referral network, and fully supported clinical operations.

The clinic is designed for efficient, high-throughput care, supported by experienced staff, dedicated retina resources, and modern diagnostic and treatment infrastructure. Physicians can maintain a consistently full schedule with minimal administrative burden.

There is also flexibility to incorporate general ophthalmology clinics, depending on your interests.

Travel assistance is provided.
